1. Introduction

Since Columbus discovered the New World, mankind has begun to move from closed to united. From then on, mankind has become an inseparable whole, and human destiny is connected. In today's world, with the promotion of science and technology, the trend of globalization is further strengthened, and the destiny of mankind is more relevant. At the same time, human beings are faced with many difficulties. The imbalance of economic development among the world's regions, political hegemonism and cold war mentality, have blocked the development and progress of all mankind. Human beings face common challenges, how to solve them? confrontation or dialogue? Closed or open? Win, win-win or all-win? The best choice for solving human crises is the construction of human destiny community.

Since General Secretary Xi Jinping took office, he has actively explored global governance programs and formed a unique Chinese road model, which has provided new strategies and new thinking for global governance. The concept of human destiny community first appeared in the report of CPC 18th National Congress and was later introduced in different international diplomatic occasions. The concept of human destiny community is the Chinese judgment on human issues such as "What happened to the world? What shall we do?", which is the Chinese wisdom and China program that China contributed to the world in the new era.

2. Human destiny community is a modern transformation of traditional culture

Today, the Chinese road, the Chinese voice and the Chinese model have attracted widespread attention from many countries around the world. In particular, Chinese leaders think about the value of human society. The concept of human destiny community is the transformation of the value of great traditional culture, reflecting the value expectations of the people all over the world and embodying the charm of traditional Chinese culture.

2.1 Human destiny community practices the idea of Human Great Harmony

China's philosophy of Great Harmony has a long history and is an important part of Chinese culture. Human destiny community is the inheritance and reproduction of the concept of Great Harmony, and it is the modern interpretation of the concept of Great Harmony. "When the political ideal comes into force, the world belongs to all persons. People elect the people with high ability and political integrity. Everyone stresses the honesty and cultivates an atmosphere of harmony.

Therefore, people not only regard their loved ones as relatives, and not only regard their children as their own children... Therefore, treacherous plots will not happen, and theft, rebellion, and harming things will no longer rise, so the doors of every household will not be closed. This is Great Harmony." (Book of Rites) Great Harmony is the ideal society of the ancients. From ancient times to modern society, the concept of Great Harmony has always been the tireless pursuit of people. In the face of the development dilemma of today's human society, the pursuit of the world's Great Harmony is a kind of transcendence. The essence of the whole world is love. The development of today's world is more and more relevant, and it is difficult for anyone to leave each other and develop alone. Xi Jinping pointed out: "The people of all countries in the world live under the same blue sky and have the same home. We should be family. The people of all countries should uphold the concept of 'One world, One family' and open our arms. We should understand each other, seek common ground while reserving differences, and jointly strive for the construction of human destiny community."^[1]

2.2 Human destiny community inherits the spirit of harmony

The idea of harmony in Chinese traditional culture has accumulated grace to us. During the Western Zhou Dynasty, "If harmony is achieved, everything can grow and develop. If they are identical, they cannot develop and continue." (Guoyu) The idea of harmony is the blood of Chinese ideology and culture, and the essence and spiritual pursuit of Chinese civilization. Our country has always used the harmony thinking to integrate the world, from the peace and harmony, to the peaceful coexistence to the harmonious world and then to human destiny community, all revealing the spirit and concept of harmony. Human destiny community is, based on the harmony, mutual trust, mutual suppression, and equal exchange. Human destiny community requires countries of different regions, different skin colors, and different languages, under the guidance of the spirit of harmony, will continue to work together to safeguard the development of human society. On many occasions, Chinese leaders promoted the concept of harmony, pursued the spiritual realm of harmony, and integrated the thought of harmony into the construction of human destiny community, based on the needs of the era of peaceful development, and built human destiny community. It reflects the charm of Chinese traditional culture. Nowadays, using the concept of "peaceful development, harmonious coexistence, cooperation and win-win" as the basic norm of international exchanges, China in the new era will create a beautiful world which is like an ancient sentence saying we appreciate the culture of others as do to one's own, and the world will become a harmonious whole. Everybody cherishes his or her own culture, and if we respect and treasure other's culture, the world will be a harmonious one.. It has opened up a new realm for the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation and provided new impetus."^[2]

2.3 The Spirit of Mission of Human Destiny Community Which is Reflected Advocating responsibility is the life temperament and spiritual background of the Chinese nation, and mission is the essence of Chinese traditional culture. As early as in the "Book of Changes", it was proposed that "As Heavens movement is ever vigorous, so must a gentleman ceaselessly strives along." In the Analects of Confucius, Taibo chapter, Zengzi said, "Scholars should be indomitable, for having a long way to go." The thoughts of "One should be the first to worry about the future of the state and the last to claim his share of happiness" contain the feelings of being brave in undertaking and exploring. In the face of all kinds of problems and difficulties in the world today, China has not backed down or paid attention to "everyone's own efforts", but China has responsibility to the whole world. Taking on the responsibility of being responsible for human beings, standing at the height of human interdependence, it proposes a Chinese plan to govern global issues and an effective path to govern the world's predicament.

Since the founding of the People's Republic of China 70 years ago, China has gone from standing up to becoming rich and then becoming strong, and puts human development on the agenda. Human destiny community is China's responsibility to the whole world, and it inherits and carries forward the traditional Chinese mission. It is an important channel and platform to lead the world how to develop. Human destiny community is a comprehensive community with a wide range of fields, demonstrating the wisdom and strength of the Chinese government in the world, taking human development as its responsibility and mission, and contributing to the Chinese theory of global vision for a better vision.

3. Human Destiny Community is the Realistic Construction of Socialist Culture with Chinese Characteristics

Facing the different voices of the world in terms of roads, doctrines and models, General Secretary Xi Jinping pointed out: "The degree of interrelation and interdependence among countries is unprecedented deepening. Human beings live in the same global village and live in the same time-space where history and reality converge. Increasingly, it becomes a destiny community of you, me and you."^[3] The 19th National Congress of the Communist Party of China further proposed to "build a lasting peace, universal security, common prosperity, openness, tolerance, clean and beautiful world"^[4]. Building human destiny community concerns the survival of the world, the progress of mankind as a whole and the prosperity of the whole world. It has been universally recognized by the international community and actively endorsed by many countries. It has been recorded many times in the United Nations documents and refreshed international discourse system for many times. Building human destiny community is a strategic judgment to solve the problem of human destiny and world development. It is the innovative development of Marxist theory in contemporary China and shows the practical application of Chinese wisdom in the development of human destiny.

3.1 It Embodies the Value Pursuit of Openness and Mutual Benefit

There are some discordant voices about the construction of human destiny community. Some people think that it is the "Marshall Plan" and some people think that it is a hegemonic expansion plan. These statements are all one-sided. Human destiny community has adopted a more open and inclusive approach to allow all countries in the world to participate in global governance, demonstrating China's philosophy of life and Chinese wisdom. General Secretary Xi Jinping pointed out that "China adheres to the basic national policy of opening to the outside world and insists on opening the country to engage in construction. I want to make it clear to you that the door of China's opening will not be closed, and it will only grow bigger and bigger!"^[5] In today's world, nothing can stop the pace of openness and connectivity. The experience of historical development teaches us that isolation leads to poverty and backwardness, while openness leads to prosperity and strength. Human destiny community is an open community, not a conservative or closed one. It is not a one-sided preferential treatment, but a mutually beneficial community.

Human destiny community has broken the international concept centered on Europe and the United States, broken through the model of closed pattern of regional international organizations, and got rid of the identification mechanism of suspicion, estrangement and mutual distrust caused by their own interest. When we establish relations with other countries, we should adhere to the principle of seeking common ground while reserving differences and unify consensus. On the basis of mutual benefit, we will improve the happiness index of people in all regions of the world. Instead of adopting China's standards as the sole criterion, we should respect the national conditions and systems of each country, respect the development concepts of all countries, and not force the implementation of China's programs. "A single flower does not make spring, while one hundred flowers in full blossom bring spring to the garden."

3.2 It Reflects the Spiritual Pursuit of Sharing, Building and Sharing

It is an important part of Xi Jinping's governance to the concept of co-construction and sharing. The Chinese government has for the first time proposed a strategic initiative to establish human destiny community, adhering to the principle of co-construction and sharing. General Secretary Xi Jinping emphasized that "what kind of international order and global governance system is good for the world and for the people of all countries in the world. It is up to the people of all countries to discuss it. It cannot be decided by one country or a few people."^[6]

"China adheres to the global governance concept of co-construction and sharing, advocates the democratization of international relations, and insists that all countries are equal, whatever they are big or small, strong or weak, rich or poor."^[4] It is not a way of confrontation to solve world problems by means of dialogue and negotiation. In solving world problems, we will not engage in specialization, deceive, bully, or implement "double standards." Co-construction means that all countries in the world are committed to the development and progress of human society on the basis of adhering to the UN Charter. In the face of international law, all countries in the world have an equal relationship. Sharing enables countries to share development outcomes. Today, the polarization between the rich and the poor is becoming more and more serious, and it is necessary to promote the sharing of goods and services, scientific and technological achievements, and information. Just as General Secretary Xi Jinping said: "We must adhere to insist the concept of global governance of co-construction and sharing, continuously reform and improve the global governance system, and promote the cooperation of all countries in building human destiny community."^[7]

3.3 It Reflects the interests of win-win Cooperation

Because the unequal old international order still exists, Xi Jinping has clearly proposed that "building human destiny community and achieving win-win sharing and shared benefits."^[8] The construction of human destiny community provides the world with a new governance program. It replaces confrontation with cooperation, replaces single-win with win-win and all-win approach to the world. It focuses on the focus of development on governance, builds consensus through the fruits of development, opens up a groundbreaking development path for global governance, and opens a door to solve many problems in the world. Human destiny community does not cause destruction to both sides, or old thinking model that you lose and I win, but insists on achieving win-win and all-win interests on the basis of cooperation. While China develops itself and grows itself, it also takes care of the interests of other countries and establishes the interests of destiny community.

China is a responsible country. After the rise of China, it faced the grim situation of mankind, and proposed a new initiative to build a world order. Human destiny community is the optimization of the existing international order. The destiny community of cooperation and win-win is the best solution for the world's development. Win-win cooperation is the value wish that all countries in the world are striving for. Without cooperation, there will be no win-win situation, let alone progress and development. Cooperation and win-win is the essential appeal for realizing the value of human existence and the development of well-being.

4. Summary

The idea of human destiny community is a bridge to the world for mutual development and prosperity. To build a community of human destiny is the responsibility and burden that has been played against the world. It is the innovative development of China's road to solve international problems and reflects the self-awareness and innovation of China's wisdom value. In the journey of human progress, the Chinese government continues to play the status and role of the great powers and contributes to the wisdom of China for the bright future of mankind.
