Introduction

For the relationship between ideological and political education and ideology, some scholars believe that ideological and political education itself is the ideology, ideological and political education function is the function of ideology. It is not necessary to study the ideological function of ideological and political education. We think that the ideological function is the dominant function of ideological and political education, ideological and political education and ideology is the existence of unity, but there are differences.

First of all, the content of the consistency of ideological and political education is the essential attribute of ideology, it is for the ruling class, with a distinct class. In the view of the ruling class, ideological and political education is the tool to instill and disseminate the ideology of the ruling class. Its purpose is to make all the members of society accept the ideology of the ruling class in order to achieve the purpose of social stability and harmony. Ideology includes political and legal thought, morality, literature and art, religious philosophy and social science. The content of ideological and political education is the concrete content of ideological content. It is under the guidance of Marxist theory, according to the goal of ideological and political education and the actual identification of educational objects, including the world view, political view, outlook on life, morality, Legal concept, creative concept and health psychology education and other seven aspects. Therefore, ideological and political education and ideology are consistent in content.

Ideology is an important form of consolidating and seizing state power in addition to violent struggles. Mao Zedong pointed out: all to overthrow a regime, always first cause public opinion, always first do ideological work. The revolutionary class is like this, and the counter-revolutionary class is like this. To do ideological work, the fundamental goal is to seize, maintain and consolidate the state power, which is the goal of ideological and political education is highly unified and consistent. Because of ideological and political education, that is, a class or political group, in order to achieve its political objectives and tasks carried out to political and ideological education as the core and focus, ideological, moral and psychological comprehensive education practice. The political goal of a certain class or political group is to seize, maintain and consolidate state power. Therefore, the two are highly unified and consistent on the target.

The Function of Ideology and the Function of Ideological and Political Education

The social function of ideology is mainly embodied in the social function of ideology, the critical function of ideology and the guiding function of ideology. Because the value of the individual who makes up the society is varied, each person pursues a different goal, and there is a conflict between each other. And ideology can play a role in integrating people's thinking, so that the majority of people recognized the mainstream ideology, and will not lose in a variety of value in the pursuit of self, ideology can come to the role of unity. In addition, ideology as a great spiritual force in society also plays an important role, so that the current diversity of society will not fall apart in the conflict, into a state of chaos. And ideology as the ideology of the system also has a strong cohesion, it can make the whole nation, class, group in the ideological consistency, so as to effectively guide the social practice. Ideology is critical. In the era of globalization, the coexistence of multiple ideologies is an inevitable phenomenon. Conflict between different ideologies is also common. Every country in order to grow in the development of their own, it is bound to carry forward their ideology in the world. To make the ideology show its scientific rationality in the argument, only to constantly absorb the other ideology contained in the truth particles, develop and expand themselves, in order to appeal to the people in order to make the public voluntarily accept its theory of guidance, and transformation For the power of practice. Rather than the mandatory to their own ideology of hard to let people accept, that ideology is not any attraction and cohesion. The guiding function of ideology is mainly embodied in its criticism of social reality to guide the people to establish ideals and beliefs. As the ideal of social ideals or ideals of mankind, to determine the value orientation for people's social practice, to guide people to achieve a better social vision, and thus encourage people to strive for. Ideology that does not contain social ideals is not attractive.

Many people think that ideological and political education is for the ideological service, ideological and political education of this function has long been recognized. But we should also note that the ideological function is the main function of ideological and political education, if left the ideological function, ideological and political education is not a ideological and political education. In the process of ideological and political education, educators want to educate people through ideological and political education to form a certain ideological and moral and values, in order to guide and regulate the behavior of educated. That is to say that the ideological influence of the educated people, so that the ideology of the educated by the recognition, to achieve the ideology of the educated in their own internalization of the state, so as to achieve social integration, to maintain the ruling class of legitimate rule. Ideological and political education is the main medium of propagating the mainstream ideology, through the propaganda of ideological and political education, so that the audience can digest the mainstream ideology, and thus guide their own life. In addition, in the process of ideological and political education, but also timely feedback to the mainstream ideology in the audience problems, so that the mainstream ideology can be updated in a timely manner, and constantly enhance the mainstream ideology of immunity, to adapt to social development the need. Of course, ideological and political education in the process of ideological function is not smooth sailing, will encounter a lot of real problems. We are in the process of ideological and political education, educators only to ensure a unified value orientation, will play the role of ideology. If there are many kinds of ideology coexist phenomenon, the educator will have the value of confusion, and thus weaken the mainstream ideology in the hearts of the audience position. In addition, in the globalization of information today, Western society to use the Internet to promote their own ideology, in a variety of ideologies coexist today, we have to do a good job of thinking, not the overall negative, but should be critical The combination of our own actual situation, the absorption of Western advanced and advanced factors, anti-Marxism, anti-socialist ideology to be severely criticized, and thus consolidate the status of Marxist mainstream ideology.

The Path of Ideological and Political Education in China
