In addition, also including bags, small appliances, personal care and cosmetics similar. More products, brand, product type, type is relatively complete. There are stores and the official flagship store flagship store, the official flagship store is an enterprise with its own brand (trademark R or TM), registered brand or foreign national distributor, located in the suning.com store; usually includes the following four operating conditions: first, private brand flagship store, the main company (brand) the right to use the trademark; second, operating a number of independent brands of products and brands, is the actual controller with the same brand flagship store (only invited to Su Ningyi The purchase of third, registered foreign companies); the brand in Chinese have subsidiaries or branches, is a brand flagship store China general agent to officially responsible; fourth, suning.com opened its own store.

Status Quo of Price Strategy. The suning.com website, to ensure the quality of products based on the go, the relatively low price of online sales, much lower operating costs than the store, which means that the online product sales can save part of the cost of sales than the store, so the same goods in the net can sell cheaper than the store can be profitable. Such as Haier BCD 216SD three door refrigerator in the Haier store price is 2212 yuan, while suning.com price only 1699 yuan, in this way, not only conducive to product sales, also let consumers get the benefits of suning.com. Consumers are mainly gathered in the relatively dense area of the city, the level of consumption the higher the overall, pay attention to product quality; as close to the target customer's consumption level, profit to consumers, establish a good brand image, not only the store to buy the required products directly from manufacturers, But also save a lot of cost. There will be some of the goods are shipped directly from the factory, the purchase price may be higher than the local market is low, greatly reduce the cost of sales pricing is minimized. And according to the old models, new products, profit products, impulse products of different types of products, pricing pricing strategies are adopted, in the actual sales process, according to the transaction price, the amount of cash back and other specific circumstances, as well as competitors, reasonable price, in order to promote sales, to ensure profits.

The Current Situation of Channel Strategy. Suning channel model is in the area where the city or province's largest units set up a joint venture company, make a few big dealer management and stock upholding regional national autonomy principle, to ensure a reasonable profit level dealers. At present, have been completed in Tianjin, Hefei, Wuxi, 4 Chengdu logistics project, construction and signed 15 projects, the total contracted more than 50 projects, in the establishment of 64 service centers, the national sales exceeded 5000, in the country to support customer service service, buy all products online after customer service, can go to any one of Suning stores and service outlets. Through various forms of equity, and development combined with Suning Appliance channel local guaranteed. Because Suning has its own complete supply chain and logistics system, eliminates the need for online sales agents and other intermediaries, let dealers around the city with their own business of the company, to sell Shou Suning products. In the process of business model of suning.com's new service platform to build, from a new point of view, on how to better serve users through innovative design ideas, service platform, to break the traditional industry from sales perspective taking the electronic business model, set up to serve as the center, to the network members. Ordinary members, matching services and other multiple service marketing strategy, enhance the competitiveness of enterprises, but also support a variety of payment channels, such as online banking payment, telephone payment, cash on delivery, credit card payment, payment through the payment of money to other software channels.

Status Quo of Promotion Strategy. Television advertising, radio advertising, outdoor advertising, mail and other conventional promotional mode, can also use the type of gift promotions, buy appliances gift both hands, more than a certain amount of consumption, such as the mini notebook computer, camera, digital camera, puerile, improve product and brand awareness, attract customers, stimulate consumer desire to buy; also can provide goods to consumers free of charge, the general public to allow consumers to trial, in order to promote the promotion of goods, improve service quality, lifting the customer. Price Positioning Differentiation is not Obvious. Take the strategy of price competition, but the magnitude is not large, to achieve online and offline synchronization pricing idea is very difficult, but also prone to conflict. However, the main consideration of online shopping customers is to lower than the store price to get the transaction, but if with his online shopping platform compared to the store without the obvious price advantage, will be in the fierce competition in the market can not get the favor of customers.

Imperfect Logistics System and Website Problems. Despite the strong logistics system in the city, but it is not satisfactory. First of all, suning.com received numerous customer complaints, mainly due to supply management (the center of the city, the 3C class stores located in the center of the fusion of slow response speed; Nanjing warehouse delivery department store). The second is caused by. The bad phenomenon of logistics system and marketing system, easy to form the warehouse backlog, resulting in a large number of capital retention. Finally, there is a disconnection between suning.com link, procurement staff do not pay attention to the absorption of new goods warehouse purchase, no additional storage capacity. Usually the 1/5 warehouse space in the idle state, caused by the high logistics the cost of long-term.

Lack of Diversification of Sales Promotion. Promotion can attract a lot of traffic to suning.com, but also can not deny that there are some problems existing in marketing. For example: only let promotion discount, no more novel ways, at the same time also did not form their own and other B2C sites do not price advantage; diversified enterprise publicity, but only in the promote your site, other sites in the search engine propaganda is not big enough, instead of the real network marketing model into the business process; and the new way of publicity also do not in place, not only did not use all kinds of marketing to increase publicity efforts, but also did not use the consumer often used chat tools (such as QQ, micro-blog, WeChat, etc.) and other relevant channels for publicity work. Therefore, to achieve a close relationship and not to consumers, from the consumer demand Can not accurately grasp
